WISHING YOU ALL THE BEST ON YOUR SPECIAL DAY

COMMUNITY ANNOUCEMENT

Thank You, Rube & Family

Two Years of Dedication to Our Community

For two years, Rube Domi and her family gave this newsletter their time, their energy, and their care. Month after month, they gathered the news, put the pages together, and made sure every resident had something to read. That kind of quiet, steady work holds a community together. We did not always see it, but we always felt it.

Rube, you earned your rest. Thank you from everyone at Mission Bay. We wish you and your family all the very best.

YOUR STORY BELONGS HERE

Mission Bay News is looking for contributions from residents

This newsletter is about us. The more voices in it, the better it gets. We want to hear from you. No writing experience needed. If you can tell it, we can print it.

We are looking for:

- Funny stories. Something that made you laugh this month. A moment with a neighbor, a pet, a grandchild, or just life in the park.
- Good news. A milestone, a new family member, a graduation, a recovery, a move in. Tell us.
- A tip worth sharing. A recipe, a repair trick, a shortcut, something useful you learned the hard way.
- Anything on your mind. A question for neighbors, a notice, a concern, a celebration. This page is yours.

Send your story, joke, or notice to: missionbaynews@gmail.com

Submissions for the July edition are due by 10th of June 2026

COMMUNITY ANNOUCEMENT

FROM THE EDITOR

A note from Alexandra McKeever, Mission Bay News

I am new to this role and I am still learning. If you notice anything missing, incorrect, or out of date in this newsletter, please let me know at missionbaynews@gmail.com and I will put it right in the next issue. Your patience and your feedback are both welcome.

Reminder: Notices and small advertisements in this newsletter are free for Mission Bay residents. If you have a service, item, or announcement to share with the community, just send it to the newsletter email and we will include it.

Thank you to every resident who looks out for this community, checks on a neighbor, and keeps our park a good place to live. You are the reason this newsletter exists.

MISSION BAY GARDENS

Show us what you are growing. Share what works. Swap what you have.

We have some beautiful gardens in this park and most people never get to see them. Send a photo of your garden, your flowers, your fruit, or anything you are proud of growing. We will share it in the newsletter and on our Facebook page.

- Got a tip that actually works? Share it. Not advice from a website. Something you tried in your own garden that worked.
- Have extra flowers, fruit, or seedlings? List them here and swap with a neighbor for something small.
- Find us on Facebook for garden photos and community updates: Mission Bay Gardens and Owners | Newsletter website: bit.ly/missionbay-news

HAVE YOUR SAY · COMMUNITY POLL

We want to know what matters to you. From time to time, we will run a short community poll or a simple form to collect ideas, feedback, or requests. It takes less than a minute and your answers help shape what goes in this newsletter.

How to take a poll or fill a form: When a poll or form is active, the link will appear in the newsletter, on our Facebook page, and in the park notice board. On your phone or computer, tap the link, answer a few short questions, and hit Submit. No account needed. Free. Takes under a minute.

Examples of what we may ask: What topics do you want more of in the newsletter? What park issues concern you most? Would you join a community garden swap? We report the results in the next issue.

Current poll: What would you like to see more of in Mission Bay News?

Will We Get Warning?

As this is written (a few days before the 120th anniversary of the great San Francisco Earthquake of 1906) it's worth asking ourselves what progress we have made since that time.

The whole Bay Area has greatly strengthened building codes. It took a long time (strict building codes proposed or implemented shortly after the 1906 disaster were either repealed or ignored when builders complained they were impeding the rebuilding of the city), but eventually they happened. The 1989 Loma Prieta quake helped accelerate this.

San Francisco installed a special system of pipes filled with water at high pressure and separate from the city's regular water system to help prevent another uncontrollable fire.

The Bay Area built the ShakeAlert system, which is supposed to provide warnings when an earthquake begins. The idea is based on the fact that an earthquake generates two kinds of waves in the earth: P waves (also called Primary or Pressure waves), which cause little damage, and S waves (also called Secondary waves or Shear waves), which that cause damage.

Since P waves move faster than S waves, the idea is that if you're not right on top of the epicenter of a quake, a warning system can alert you before the damaging S waves arrive, so you can take measures to protect yourself.

But there's a problem with that. A recent article in the San Francisco Chronicle pointed out that if the 1906 quake happened again there would be no warning, because the epicenter was so close. And if the Hayward fault ruptures we would get no warning, because it's so close to us.

So the lesson here is be prepared at all times.

VIEU 新闻

我们会收到预警吗？

在撰写本文时（距离1906年旧金山大地震120周年纪念日还有几天），值得我们反思，自那时以来我们取得了哪些进展。

整个湾区已经大大加强了建筑规范。这一过程花费了很长时间（1906年灾难后不久提出或实施的严格建筑规范，在建筑商抱怨其阻碍城市重建后，要么被废除，要么被忽视），但最终还是得以落实。1989年的洛马普列塔地震对此起到了加速作用。

旧金山安装了一套特殊的高压供水管道系统，与城市常规供水系统分离，以帮助防止再次发生无法控制的大火。

湾区还建立了“ShakeAlert”系统，旨在在地震开始时提供预警。这个想法基于这样一个事实：地震会在地球中产生两种波——P波（也称为初波或压力波），其破坏性较小；以及S波（也称为次波或剪切波），其会造成破坏。

由于P波的传播速度快于S波，因此理论上，如果你不在震中正上方，预警系统可以在具有破坏性的S波到达之前发出警报，从而让你有时间采取措施保护自己。

但这里存在一个问题。最近《旧金山纪事报》的一篇文章指出，如果1906年的地震再次发生，由于震中距离太近，将不会有任何预警。而如果海沃德断层发生破裂，我们同样也无法收到预警，因为它离我们太近。

因此，这里的教训是：要时刻做好准备。

Older Adults Are Looking for Jobs, but Age Discrimination Hampers the Search

By Miriam Cross, AARP • Published September 4, 2025 • Full article: aarp.org/work-and-jobs

2/3 of workers 50+ face age bias • $850B GDP lost in 2018 • CA FEHA covers employers with 5+ workers

HOW AGE DISCRIMINATION HAPPENS

AARP testified before the U.S. Senate Special Committee on Aging (September 3, 2025) that about two-thirds of workers 50-plus have seen or experienced workplace age discrimination — with higher rates for Black workers and women over 50.

In May 2025, California's Civil Rights Department (CRD) published a new Age Discrimination Fact Sheet during Governor Newsom's Older Californians Month, listing specific examples of what is illegal under FEHA.

Illegal under FEHA — real examples:

- "Looking for someone young and energetic" in a job post
- Asking an applicant's age or date of birth before hiring
- Paying workers 40+ less than younger staff in the same role
- Firing older workers to replace them with younger, lower-paid staff
- Using "cultural fit" or "fresh perspective" to mask age-based choices

AI & Algorithmic Screening

AI résumé tools filter out older applicants using graduation dates or years of experience as age proxies — before any human reviews the file. One-third of 50+ job seekers in AARP's 2024 survey worried AI could cost them their job.

The Economic Cost

AARP and the Economist Intelligence Unit found age bias cost the U.S. economy $850 billion in GDP in 2018. That figure could reach $3.9 trillion by 2050 if left unaddressed.

YOUR RIGHTS — CALIFORNIA & FEDERAL

California FEHA — Stronger Than Federal Law

- Covers employers with 5+ employees (federal ADEA requires 20+)
- Protects workers 40+ — even if employer only thinks you're 40+
- You have 3 years to file (federal ADEA gives only 300 days)
- Covers hiring, firing, pay, promotions, benefits, job assignments

CRD fact sheet: calcivilrights.ca.gov/.../Age-Discrimination-in-Employment_ENG_2025.pdf

Federal ADEA + OWBPA

The Age Discrimination in Employment Act (1967) protects workers 40+ at companies with 20+ employees. The Older Workers Benefit Protection Act (OWBPA) stops employers from cutting your health insurance, retirement, or severance based on age.

3 Federal Bills AARP Is Pushing

- Protecting Older Workers Against Discrimination Act — restores rights stripped by 2009 Supreme Court ruling
- Protecting Older Americans Act — lets you take your claim to court instead of forced arbitration
- Protect Older Job Applicants Act — covers you before you're even formally in the hiring process

How to File a Complaint

California CRD: calcivilrights.ca.gov • (800) 884-1684
Federal EEOC: eeoc.gov/filing-charge-discrimination • (800) 669-4000
AARP job resources: aarp.org/work-and-jobs
Filing with CRD first preserves your longer 3-year window. One complaint can satisfy both CRD and EEOC through a work-sharing agreement.

States Boost Support for America's 63 Million Caregivers

By Molly Snow, AARP • Updated May 8, 2026 • Full article: aarp.org/caregiving

63M U.S. caregivers • $1T+ economic value • 4.5M California caregivers paid via Medi-Cal

NATIONAL WINS FOR CAREGIVERS

State legislatures are passing new laws to support the nation's 63 million family caregivers. With AARP's backing, these changes address paid leave, respite care, tax relief, and nursing home funding.

Tax Credits

Connecticut and Oklahoma adopted caregiver tax credits — up to $2,000 and $3,000 respectively. Nebraska, Michigan, and Massachusetts are advancing similar laws.

Job-Protected Leave

Vermont expanded 12-week job-protected leave to cover domestic/civil partners, grandparents, and foster/adoptive relationships. Virginia passed 12 weeks paid leave for medical and caregiving needs. Tennessee enacted 6 weeks paid leave for state employees with a family member in hospice.

Respite & Home Care

Maine expanded respite grants to cover home modifications, equipment, and gym memberships. Wyoming and South Dakota raised HCBS funding in 2026. Wisconsin lifted its $48,000 income cap from the Alzheimer's Family Caregiver Support Program.

Federal Status

The July 4, 2025 federal law left out a nationwide caregiver tax credit and suspended nursing home staffing minimums. Congress did reauthorize the Lifespan Respite Care Program and the Acute Hospital Care at Home Waiver. AARP is pushing the Credit for Caring Act and the Lowering Costs for Caregivers Act.

WHAT CALIFORNIA OFFERS YOU

California Paid Family Leave (PFL)

Up to 8 weeks paid leave to care for a seriously ill family member. Lower-income workers receive up to 90% of wages (max $1,765/wk in 2026). Covers parent, grandparent, grandchild, sibling, spouse, or domestic partner. No minimum time at current job required.

New 2026 (AB 495): Employers with 25+ workers must restore your job when you return — even if you didn't formally apply for state benefits.

Apply: edd.ca.gov/disability/paid-family-leave • (877) 238-4373

IHSS — In-Home Supportive Services

California pays a caregiver — including a family member or friend — to provide in-home help to eligible seniors and disabled adults so they can stay safely at home instead of a nursing facility.

Services covered: bathing, dressing, meals, housework, laundry, shopping, medical transportation
Hours: up to 195/month or 283/month (severely impaired). Alameda County IHSS wages: $19.64+/hr in 2026.
Apply IHSS: cdss.ca.gov/in-home-supportive-services or Alameda County: (510) 577-1900

California Family Rights Act (CFRA)

CFRA gives you up to 12 weeks of job-protected leave for caregiving. Employers with 5+ employees must comply. Use PFL for pay and CFRA for job protection — at the same time.

CFRA info: calcivilrights.ca.gov • (800) 884-1684

2026 Federal Tax Deductions for Caregivers

If your senior parent qualifies as your dependent (gross income under $5,300/yr, you provide 50%+ of support), you may deduct medical costs exceeding 6.5% of your AGI. Adults 65+ get an extra $1,950–$3,100 standard deduction.

Your Phone Is a Door Too

By Alexandra, Mission Bay News Editor

Dorothy is 74 and lives alone in Mission Bay. She uses her phone to text her grandchildren, check the weather, and sometimes shop online. She is careful, trusting, and kind. She is exactly who scammers look for.

One afternoon she got a text that said her package could not be delivered. It looked like it came from the post office. She was expecting a birthday gift from her granddaughter. She tapped the link to fix the address.

The page that opened looked exactly like the real post office website. Same colors. Same logo. It asked for her name, address, and a $3.50 redelivery fee. She entered her debit card. The charge went through and she forgot about it.

Four days later her card had $2,340 in charges she did not make. The scammers got everything they needed from that one page: her card number, her address, and the security code on the back. The $3.50 was never the point.

A week later she got a call from someone saying they were from her bank. They told her her account was frozen because of suspicious charges. They knew her name and the last four digits of her card. She felt relieved someone was helping.

The man on the phone was calm and patient. He said he needed to verify her full card number and her PIN to unlock the account. He waited while she found her card. He thanked her by name. He sounded exactly like a real bank employee.

She read him the numbers. Her account was empty within the hour.

The fake delivery text and the fake bank call were run by the same group. The text got her card number. The call used that number to sound real. Together they took everything. This happens to thousands of people every week.

"I thought scams came in emails," Dorothy said. "I never knew a text message could do this. My phone feels different now. I look at every message twice."

HOW IT WORKS

Scammers send fake text messages pretending to be the post office, your bank, Amazon, Medicare, or the IRS. These texts look real. The websites they link to look real. But the moment you type in your card number or address, that information goes straight to a criminal.

The government received over 334,000 complaints about fake text scams in 2023. People over 60 lost more money than any other age group. The reason is simple: older adults are more likely to call back when they get a follow-up call, and that is when the real theft happens.

WHAT TO DO

1. Do not tap any link in a text about a package, a delivery, or your bank account. Instead, call the number printed on the back of your card or go to the website by typing it yourself.

2. Your bank, Medicare, and the IRS will never ask for your PIN, full card number, or Social Security number over the phone or by text. If anyone asks for these, hang up immediately and call someone you trust.

3. If you get a suspicious text, forward it to 7726. That spells SPAM on your keypad and goes straight to your phone carrier. You do not need to do anything else. Just forward and delete.

REAL CONVICTIONS

Atharva Sathawane — 18 years federal prison. Stole $6.6 million from elderly Florida victims using fake government phone calls. Convicted 2025.

Pradip Parikh — Convicted 2025 for laundering proceeds of a phone scam that impersonated government officials to steal from elderly victims across the US.

Complimentary Simple Comforting Recipes

Pennsylvania Dutch Potato Filling
@Peter Cleaveland
From Amish Heritage
PA Dutch Potato filling is a delicious side dish made of mashed potatoes and bread stuffing. A popular Thanksgiving side dish in Pennsylvania.

Prep Time 35 minutes
Cook Time 40 minutes
Total Time 1 hour 15 minutes
Servings 10 people
Calories 297 kcal

Ingredients
7 - 8 slices bread, cut into small cubes (about 1 quart)
6 medium/large potatoes (4 - 5 c. mashed)
6 Tbs. butter, browned
5 celery ribs
1 medium onion
2 large eggs, beaten
½ c. milk
¾ tsp. seasoned salt
¾ tsp. salt
¾ tsp. pepper
garlic powder, parsley, and sage to taste, optional

Instructions
1. Cut bread slices into small cubes and let sit out to dry overnight. Or toast them in the oven until lightly browned.
2. Peel, cut, and boil potatoes in water until soft. Drain the water and mash with a mixer until smooth.
3. In a saucepan, melt the butter and continue cooking until lightly browned. (It will be caramel in color and have a wonderful nutty aroma.)
4. Finely chop the onion and celery (I use my Ninja chopper). Add them to the browned butter and cook for 10 - 15 minutes.
5. Add the beaten eggs, milk, and seasonings to the slightly cooled butter mixture.
6. Add the egg/butter mixture to the mashed potatoes. Mix well. Then stir in the bread cubes. (Or you can make the stuffing by adding the butter/vegetable mixture to the bread cubes first and then add the mashed potatoes. It doesn't really matter which order you mix it in.)
7. Grease a casserole dish with butter and fill it with the potato filling. You can bake this immediately or cool and refrigerate for the next day.
8. Bake, covered, at 350° for 30 minutes. Uncover, and continue baking for another 10 minutes or until heated through.
9. Drizzle with additional brown butter, or serve with gravy.
10. Refrigerate any leftovers in an airtight container and reheat them to serve. Leftover potato filling should be good for up to five days.

Notes
If you prefer a very moist filling, you can add extra milk or broth to get the consistency that you desire.
This is a great holiday side dish to serve with turkey or ham and gravy.
And honestly, you can mix these ingredients together in whatever order you want. Sometimes I mix my stuffing the day before, then just mix it in with the mashed potatoes before baking.

A man walks into a restaurant and sits down.
He tells the waiter he wants a bowl of chicken soup.
The waiter brings it and walks away. A few minutes later he sees that the man has not touched his soup.
“What’s wrong?” he asks.
“I can’t eat this soup.
“What do you mean? What’s wrong with it?
“I can’t eat it.”
“The soup is fine. Just eat it.”
“I can’t.”
“To prove to you that it’s fine, I’ll taste it. Where’s the spoon?”
“Aha!” Credit: Peter Cleveland

Explorations in Image and Song

The Mission Bay Love Song

There once was a woman so fine,
Who pulled up her roots for the sunshine,
She traded the rain, for the Bay Area strain,
Of traffic on 880 at nine.

Her Michael was tall, sharp and bright,
Who cracked jokes from morning to night,
He said "California's absurd,
Have you heard what things cost per square third?"

But she kissed him and said "You're alright."
He grumbled about avocado toast prices,
And the landlords with all of their vices,
She said "Mike hold my hand,
This is our promised land,"
He laughed and said "Worth all the crises."

Now they park up their lives by the bay,
Where the seagulls steal fries every day,
He still rolls his eyes, at the kombucha guys,
But he stays, and that's all she would say.

Ah hay-o, ah hay-o, ah Californ-i-ayo,
She swapped her green fields for the glow,
He grumbles and sighs,
Under big golden skies,
But love keeps him from letting go,
Ah hay-o, ah hay-o, ah hay-o.
