Why Bees Are Your Best Garden Allies

The science of pollinators, the real benefits of honey, and where to find local Bay Area producers

AARP (March 2024): "By creating a creature-friendly gorden, you are creating a network of support biodiversity and ecosystem health." - Lornine Johnson, gardening expert

Attract bees: Plant lavender, borage, sunflowers, cosmos, and zinnias. Leave bare for groung bees. Avoid broad-spectrum insecticides from March through October.

HONEY & YOUR HEALTH

AARP published a full breakdown of honey health benefits in July 2023. Not all honey is equal:

Raw honey
Unheated, unfiltered. Retains natural anyymes, antioxidants, and pollen. Flavonoids and phenolic acids reduce oxtivative.

Local honey
Produced in your region. Contains local pollen – may help the immune system recognise sessanal allergens. Supports local.

Manuka honey
From New Zealand. High in methylglyoxal (MGO). Strong antibacterial properties. Used clinically for wound care.

Organic honey
Bees forage in certified pertifide-free zones. USDA NOP compliance required. Harder to verify than raw or local.

Note: Honey is not safe for infants under 12 months. Adults with diabetes should consult their dector before adding honey to their diet.

Protect Your Home This Mosquito Season

What science says works, what doesn't — and why your garden containers matter more than you think

California is seeing mosquito activity earlier and more aggressively than in past years. The warm winter created breeding conditions well ahead of the normal season.

A single bottle cap of standing water breeds up to 100 mosquitoes. Invasive Aedes mosquitoes have been found breeding in bottle caps and potato chip bags.

Common breeding spots:

- Flower pot saucers and trays
- Birdbaths left unchanged more than 3 days
- Buckets, tarps, old tires
- Bamboo and bromeliads (water collects inside)
- Clogged rain gutters

Mosquitoes are not just a nuisance. AARP reports that older adults tend to have thinner skin and weakened immune systems — raising the risk of secondary infections and more serious cases of West Nile Virus.

What works:

- DEET repellent — gold standard, longest-lasting protection
- Catnip essential oil — matches 15% DEET for up to 4 hours
- Clothing: wear green, blue, purple, or white
- Coconut-scented soap repels where floral scents attract

What does not work:

- Citronella candles — no measurable effect in controlled research
- Bug zappers — kill pollinators, not mosquitoes
- Coffee grounds — no solid evidence

"Mosquito eggs only need a thimbleful of water to hatch. Egg to adult in 7 to 10 days."

THE 3-DAY RULE: If water has stood for more than 3 days anywhere on your property — dump it.

VIEU News

Can We Ever be Truly Prepared?

Are we survivalists? Survivalism is the practice of preparing for disaster caused by earthquakes (this is where VIEU comes in), wildfires, floods, civil unrest, or economic collapse. Some people find it sufficient to have a "bug-out bag," which is recommended for those who live in wildfire areas. Other "preppers go to extremes, building fortified bunkers and collecting weapons.

Where do we come down in all this? We certainly don't expect a civil war, but we can be pretty sure that this area will be hit by a damaging earthquake some time in the next few years.

Do we know when that will happen? Of course not. But it's wise to be prepared, just in case.

Most of what we suggest can be found in the VIEU Earthquake Brochure. Every household should have one of these. If you don't you can pick one up in the Clubhouse, beneath the window by the office in the Main Hall.

We got hit again

A few years ago thieves broke into the VIEU storage shed, stealing block captain backpacks and other supplies. We conducted a fund-raiser and replaced what was stolen.

Then we got word that Mission Bay wanted to get rid of the VIEU shed and others near it at the south end of the park. Since there is another VIEU shed (at the north end, near the pump house), we prepared to move everything there. Then we were burglarized again. Backpacks and other equipment were stolen, but fortunately not all of them. We have moved all that was left to the new shed (getting rid of a fair mount of stuff for which we really had no need) and we hope that will put a stop to the thievery.

VIEU 新闻

我们真的能做好充分准备吗？

我们是“生存主义者”吗？所谓“生存主义”，是指为地震（这正是 VIEU 关注的重点）、野火、洪水、社会动荡或经济崩溃等灾难提前做好准备。有些人觉得准备一个“紧急逃生包”就足够了，这对于居住在野火高风险地区的人来说确实是值得推荐的。还有一些“末日准备者”则走向极端，建造加固地堡并囤积武器。

那么，我们属于哪一种呢？我们当然并不认为会发生内战，但几乎可以肯定的是，在未来几年中的某个时候，这一地区会遭遇一次具有破坏性的地震。

我们知道它什么时候会发生吗？当然不知道。但未雨绸缪总是明智的，以防万一。

我们建议的大部分准备事项，都可以在《VIEU 地震宣传册》中找到。每个家庭都应该拥有一本。如果你还没有，可以到俱乐部会所（Clubhouse）主大厅办公室窗户下方领取。

我们再次遭遇盗窃

几年前，小偷闯入了 VIEU 的储藏棚，偷走了街区负责人背包（block captain backpacks）以及其他物资。后来我们举办了一次募款活动，补齐了失窃物品。

后来我们得知，Mission Bay 想要拆除公园南端的 VIEU 储物棚以及附近的其他储物棚。由于还有另一个 VIEU 储物棚（位于北端、靠近泵房），我们便开始准备把所有东西搬到那里。随后，我们又一次遭遇了盗窃。背包和其他设备被偷了，不过幸运的是，并不是全部都丢了。我们已经把剩下的所有物品搬到了新的储物棚里（同时清理掉了不少其实并不需要的东西），希望这样能阻止今后的偷盗行为。

RIDING THE BAY TRAIL

Connections to Alameda and Union City by Bicycle

By Alexandra McKeever, Editor

Mission Bay sits close enough to the Bay Trail that you do not need to drive. Head west on Wicks toward the marina.

North — Alameda (8–10 miles)

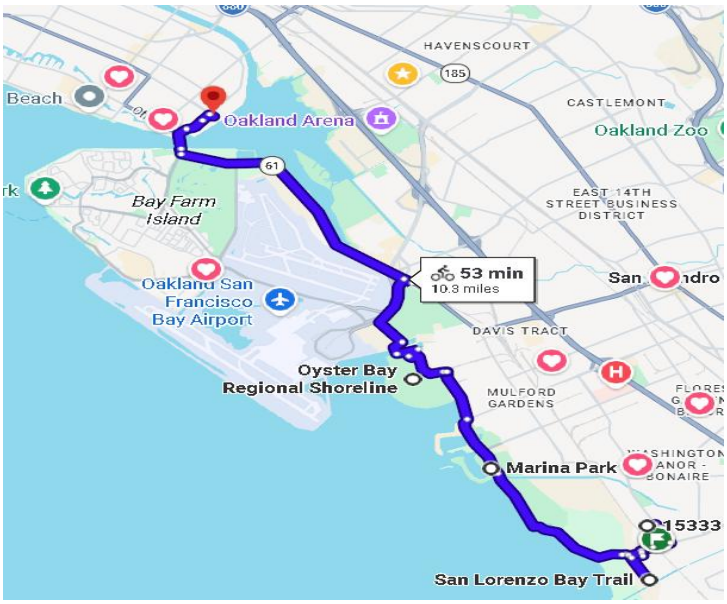

From the San Leandro Marina, the trail continues north toward Alameda via Bay Farm Island near Doolittle Drive. Alameda's flat grid opens up with dedicated lanes on many streets.

Destinations reachable: Alameda Main Street ferry terminal (connects to San Francisco), Park Street shops and restaurants, South Shore Center.

South — Union City (12–15 miles)

Heading south through the Hayward Regional Shoreline — flat, quiet marshland with minimal road crossings and frequent wildlife sightings. Union City BART is reachable from the trail. Ride one direction and return by train. Bikes ride free during most hours.

Practical tips: Bring water (no fountains on shoreline sections). Check tides before you go. Download the Bay Trail app at baytrail.org for live map of open sections. New to the trail? Start north toward Alameda — shorter and ends with food and coffee.
