Results of the Great California Shakeout
by Peter Cleveland

We Can Do Better

The annual Great California ShakeOut drill went on as scheduled on October 20, with mixed results.

The main way the VIEU Block Captains gauge how much attention people are paying is by counting the OK/NEED HELP signs in front windows, and as usual fewer than 50 percent of houses had them. I rather suspect that many of the folks who didn't put up their signs have also not taken a look at their earthquake kits. Do you have enough water? Enough food? Backup medications?

As if to drive the point home, five days later a 5.1-magnitude quake shook the Bay Area. There was no damage here, and even in San Jose, closer to the epicenter, damage was minimal — a few things knocked off shelves, and BART trains automatically slowed down. Good building codes make a lot of difference.

Then on November 2 there was a 6.0 quake off the coast 743 miles from Monterey. Most people here felt nothing, but these two events should remind us that the Big One is coming — we just don't know when.

Free Survival Guide
On October 6 the San Francisco Chronicle published a Survival Guide, giving advice on how to make it through the next big earthquake. If you have Internet Access you can download it at no cost at https://s3.documentcloud.org/documents/21073199/quakeguidepages.pdf

「加州大震動」結果

我們可以做得更好

一年一度的「加州大震動」災難演習於 10 月 20 日如期進行，成效喜憂參半。

VIEU 街道隊長统計窗前張貼的 OK/NEED HELP 標誌來衡量大家關注程度。像往年一樣，只有不到 50% 的房子有這些標誌。我猜測許多沒有張貼標誌的人也沒有檢查過他們的地震工具包。你有足夠的水嗎？足夠的食物嗎？備用的藥物嗎？

演習五天后，一場 5.1 級地震震動了灣區，彷彿要把演習的重要性講得更透徹一樣。這裡並沒有受到損壞，即使在靠近震源的San Jose 損壞也很小，如有些東西從架上掉下來，BART 列車自動減速。良好的建築規範會產生很大的區別。

然後在 11 月 2 日，距離 Monterey 海岸743 英里處發生了 6.0 級地震。這裡的大多數人沒有感覺任何震動，但這兩個事件應該提醒我們大事件即將到來，只是我們不知道什麼時候而已。

免費生存指南

10 月 6 日，《舊金山紀事報》發表了一份生存指南，就如何度過下一次大地震提供了建議。如果您有互聯網，您可以從下列網址免費下載

MBRA News
Mission Bay Residents Association

Meet the Candidates Event: On Sunday, October 23, the MBRA held a "Meet the Candidates" event in the clubhouse at Mission Bay Park in coordination with the Men and Women's Club. It was an amazing event!

Eight candidates running for offices in San Leandro and Alameda County attended including Juan Gonzales (for San Leandro Mayor), Bryan Acevedo (San Leandro Mayor), Lee Thomas (San Leandro Mayor), Fred Simon (Oro Loma Sanitary District Board Member), Lena Tam (Alameda County Supervisor), Xouhoa Bowen (City Council District 5), Monique Tate (City Council District 5) and Celina Reynes (City Council District 1). The candidates talked about why our residents should vote for them and residents got a chance to quiz the candidates on issues like housing affordability, public safety and many other issues. As of this writing, 3 of the candidates who attended our event have won their election. Some of the other races are pending until all of the votes are counted.

It gave Mission Bay residents the opportunity to quiz candidates up close about their ideas on how they would support and enhance. The candidates had the chance to discuss their platform and how they would execute a plan to attend their goals.

After the event, we surveyed both the candidates and the Mission Bay residents who attended to get their feedback on how it went. Both groups told us they loved the format. Our residents got a chance to ask the candidates about where they stood on the residents specific issue and candidates had the chance to explain what they would do if they were elected.

On the fun side, it started and ended with a few songs from singer extraordinaire, Keith Barros, to everyone's delight. There were 9 raffles and closed the event with raffling off a Grand Prize. Thanks to Drake's Brewery, 21st Amendment Brewery, Peet's Coffee, Ghiradelli Chocolates, Torani Syrups and Zocalo Coffee.

Bylaws Progress: Peter Pan gave a powerpoint presentation showing what is encompassed in the bylaws. First page is the MBRA Mission Statement, explains the membership structure and the organization structure. Within these categories is a more detailed description that defines the guidelines. A digital copy will be sent to those who we have an email for and will be posted on NextDoor. We are not printing them up due to the amount of pages and expense. A hard copy can be available upon request. Everyone's input and comments are welcome. A vote to approve the bylaws by the community will take place at the next board meeting. Heartfelt thanks and gratitude to Peter for all his hard work with this.

Resident Survey: The survey asking Park residents if they have any concerns or issues about living in Mission Bay Park has been completed and will be distributed by the end of the year.

The MBRA Board meets at 10:am on the first Saturday of every month in the clubhouse. Community Members are welcome and encouraged to attend these monthly meetings. For more information or communication with Board Members, please email us at mbhoasl@gmail.com or look online at NextDoor.com/Mission Bay where you can find the latest MBRA news.

Falls Prevention Checklist

www.lifeline.ca/en/resources/fall-prevention-

Falls can happen anywhere at any time. We can help reduce the likelihood of trips and slips that lead to falls and minimize the risk of fall related injuries. Follow the tips on this list to reduce fall hazards in the home.

How can we prevent falls at home?

Here are the top 5 tips to preventing falls at home

1. Remove all extraneous clutter in your house.

2. Keep telephone and electrical cords out of pathways

3. Tack rugs and glue vinyl flooring so they lie flat.

4. Remove or replace rugs or runners that tend to slip, or attach non slip backing. Ensure that carpets are firmly attached to the stairs.

5. Do not stand on a chair to reach things. Store frequently used objects where you can reach them easily.

Outside your home

Paint the edges of outdoor steps and any steps that are especially narrow or are higher or lower than the rest.
Paint outside stairs with a mixture of sand and paint for better traction. Keep outdoor walkways clear and well-lit.

Proper lighting

Have a lamp or light switch that you can easily reach without getting out of bed.

Use night lights in the bedroom, bathroom and hallways.

Keep a flashlight handy.
Have light switches at both ends of stairs and halls.
Install handrails on both sides of stairs.
Turn on the lights when you go into the house at night

Bathroom tips

Add grab bars in shower, tub and toilet areas.
Use nonslip adhesive strips or a mat in shower or tub.
Consider sitting on a bench or stool in the shower.
Consider using an elevated toilet seat.

Walking assistance

Use helping devices, such as canes, as directed by your healthcare provider.
Wear nonslip, low-heeled shoes or slippers that fit snugly. Avoid walking around in stocking feet.

And don't forget...

Review medications with your doctor or pharmacist. Some drugs, including over-the-counter drugs, can make you drowsy, dizzy and unsteady.
Discuss safe amounts of alcohol intake with your physician.

Have your hearing and eyesight tested.
Inner ear problems can affect balance.
Vision problems make it difficult to see potential hazards.

Exercise regularly to improve muscle flexibility, strength, and balance.
alk to your healthcare professional about exercise programs that are right for you.

If you feel dizzy or lightheaded, sit down or stay seated until your head clears.

Stand up slowly to avoid unsteadiness.

Home Sweet Mobile Home

Spruce up your home for days and nights spent indoors and close to home this holiday season. December is a notoriously busy month. But with a little preparation you can savor the best of the season, whether it's winter walks or hot cocoa.

Things to Check Off Your List in December

1. Spruce up your home for days and nights spent indoors and close to home this holiday season. December is a notoriously busy month. But with a little preparation you can savor the best of the season, whether it's winter walks or hot cocoa.

2. Add winter evergreens to outdoor spaces. Try boxwood in containers decked out with twinkling lights. Living Christmas trees and evergreen wreaths are also good choices for the front porch.

3. Update your emergency kit.
Be prepared for power outages and other emergencies by making sure your house and carare outfitted with well-stocked emergency kits. The basics include bottled water, a hand-crank radio, a flashlight with extra batteries, a cell phone charger (hand-crank or battery-powered is best), food, blankets and a first-aid kit. At home, keep essential documents in one easily accessible place.

4. Plan for holiday home safety.
A few simple precautions — such as illuminating the area around your house, locking doors and windows.. And with night falling earlier this month, and many people headed out of town, it pays to be extra safety-conscious, whether or not you are going anywhere

Table Setting 101

This holiday, when family and friends come to visit and you're having a formal sit-down dinner or just a casual catch-up with friends, here's an easy-to-follow step-by-step process you can repeat every time you set the table.

What kind of setting do you want to create? The Emily Post Etiquette says, "Remember to think about the type of meal you are serving, what you're prepared to handle as a host, and what level of formality you've chosen for your gathering. A casual pot-luck with close friends or family doesn't need to be more than the most basic of settings. "

A formal affair, and menu, will necessitate a few more utensils and a bit of style thrown in to properly pull off a fancy at-home meal. Why do formal meals include so much silverware? The idea is that each utensil elegantly serves a single purpose. Is it necessary? Absolutely not. But who among us doesn't get that little thrill when we have our very own tiny fork to skewer the shrimp cocktail or scoop ice cream for dessert with a cute little dessert spoon.

That said, you can pull off a formal meal with limited tableware by putting practicality first and utilizing a dash of creativity.

Casual Table Setting

All utensils are placed on the napkin. Many families and restaurants regularly set the table casually this way.

Informal Place Setting

The informal or semi-formal place setting is fairly basic and setting it will depend on personal style, the courses you are serving, and what you have for utensils, dishware, and glassware. This setting is wonderful for the classic dinner party. They bring just enough of a step up from our everyday settings to make the table feel special with friends, or a family holiday setting.

Formal Table Setting

The formal place setting is used at home for a meal of more than three courses, such as a dinner party or a holiday meal. Mostly served in high end restaurants and weddings and other formal occasions, a former place setting will accomodate a dinner menu that includes hors d'oeuvre, appetizer, salad, main course and dessert.

How Just Getting "Dressed Up" Can Make the Holidays Feel More Special

Are you debating if you should wear your fanciest outfits for the festive season? Well, don't think on it for another second, because you absolutely should. Doing so is an easy way to boost your mood.

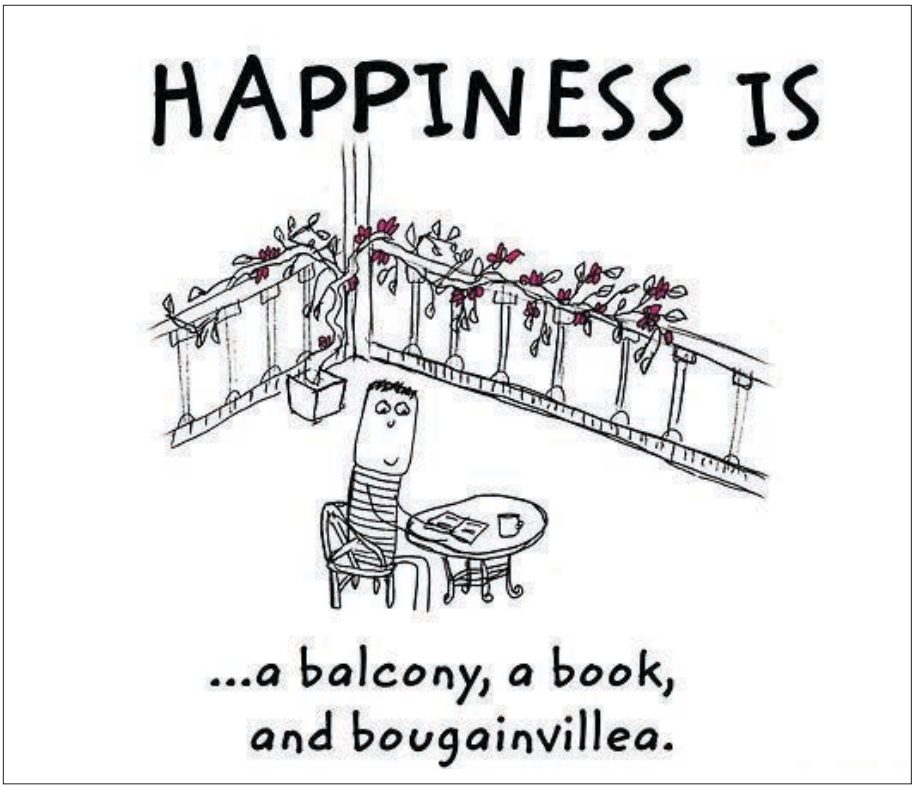

According to Psychologoist Dr. Maryhan Baker, one of the best ways to instantly transform your mood is to dig out that incredible outfit.
A great outfit can be one of the easiest ways to remind ourselves that life is worth celebrating.

You don't even need a brand new outfit.  All you need to do is wear something that you love. When a person feels happy wearing their favorite outfit, wearing their favorite shoes, or feel special because you're looking your best tells your your brain to release tons of happy chemicals that will make you feel as bubbly as your favorite bottle of fizz.

"The subconscious mind works very powerfully on associations," explained psychologist Dr. Zoë Clews, founder of Zoë Clews & Associates.
Rituals and rites of passage are some of the things that make us feel like everything is going to be OK. Much like Christmas, Hanukkah, and New Year's, yearly anniversaries give us a kind of structure.

These special occasions are so fulfilling because they promise mutual connection, a moment to be with your family and friends and share gratitude for those we love.

December Gardening Tips

Decorate your home with greenery and festive plants for the holidays.

Frost alert: Water your plants, spray tender plants with Bonide Wilt Stop to prevent wind / freeze burn. Cover with N-Sulate Blanket for further protection. Note: remove frost blankets during the daytime hours.

Most houseplants are not actively growing. Reduce watering to avoid root rot over the winter.

Clean up the garden to avoid over-wintering diseases.

Lightly prune any evergreen shrubs to keep pathways clear. Trees can be thinned to prevent storm/wind damage. Roses should have their leaves removed to bring on dormancy and it is easier to see the framework for pruning and spraying. Leave rose flowers so they can form rose hips ('hip out'). Rake up spent petals and leaves to reduce disease.

Spray cut trees, wreaths, and holiday greens by misting with water daily. Keep trees and greens and poinsettias away from hot sunny windows and heat sources. If you're using Poinsettias to decorate outdoors, bring them in out of the cold at night.

Ensure houseplants are not exposed to heat sources. Increase humidity by placing on pebble-filled saucers.

Take advantage of the rain we get this month. If you missed out on fall planting, it's still a great time to plant perennials, and shrubs to get roots established. Developing strong root systems over the winter months will promote lush spring growth.
