Can Earthquake Faults Act Together?

Our coverage of the 2025 Great California ShakeOut will be in the December edition of this column, as the deadline for this issue comes too early to include it.

The annual ShakeOut event seems to get bigger every year, and the media pay more attention to it. On Oct. 12 the San Francisco Chronicle published its Emergency Survival Guide. This has a lot of useful information, and it's available for download at sfchronicle.com/survival.

In the news recently has talked about a story in Geosphere magazine that suggests, based on study of deposits left by past earthquakes, that the Cascadia Subduction Zone, which we have talked about before, and the San Andreas fault may be linked seismically, and that a big event on one is frequently followed by one on the other. An October 12 New York Times article expands on this.

So should we worry? I guess that depends on your time horizon. Will it happen? Yes, eventually. Will it happen in our lifetimes? Nobody knows.

地震断层能共同作用吗？

我们对 2025 年“加州大地震演练”（Great California ShakeOut）的报道将刊登在本专栏的 12 月期，因为本期的截稿日期太早，无法纳入相关内容。

这项年度演练似乎每年都规模更大，媒体关注度也越来越高。10 月 12 日，《旧金山纪事报》（San Francisco Chronicle）发布了《紧急生存指南》（Emergency Survival Guide）。这份指南包含了许多实用信息，可在 sfchronicle.com/survival 下载。

最近的新闻提到了《地球圈》（Geosphere）杂志上一篇研究文章。该研究通过分析过去地震留下的沉积物，提出一个推测：我们之前提到过的喀斯喀迪亚俯冲带（Cascadia Subduction Zone）和圣安德烈亚斯断层（San Andreas Fault）在地震活动上可能存在关联，一个断层发生大地震后，另一个往往会紧随其后发生。10 月 12 日的《纽约时报》（New York Times）也对此进行了进一步报道。

那么，我们该担心吗？这大概取决于你看问题的时间尺度。

会在我们有生之年发生吗？——没人知道。

Aging in Place: Growing Older at Home

From The National Institute of Health

Planning ahead for aging in place

The best time to think about how to age in place is before you need a lot of care. Planning ahead allows you to make important decisions while you are still able. Older woman and her in-home health aid.

The first step is to think about the kinds of help you need now and might want in the future. You can learn about home-based care and other services in your community and find out what they cost. Planning ahead also gives you time to set up your home to meet your needs as you age.

Another step is to consider any illnesses, such as diabetes or heart disease, that you or your spouse might have. Find out about how the illness could make it hard for someone to get around or take care of themselves in the future. Your health care provider can help answer your questions.

Talk with your family, friends, and other caregivers about what support is needed for you to stay in your home. Be realistic and plan to revisit the decision as your needs change over time.

Support for aging at home

Home-based care includes health, personal, and other support services to help you stay at home and live as independently as possible. In-home services may be short-term — for someone who is recovering from an operation, for example — or long-term, for people who need ongoing help.

In many cases, home-based support is provided at home by informal caregivers, such as family members, friends, and neighbors. It can also be supplemented by formal caregivers and community services.

Help you can receive at home includes:

Personal care: Help with everyday activities, also called "activities of daily living," including bathing, dressing, grooming, using the toilet, eating, and moving around — for example, getting out of bed and into a chair

Household chores: Housecleaning, yard work, grocery shopping, laundry, and similar chores around the house

Meals: Shopping for food and preparing nutritious meals

Money management: Tasks such as paying bills and filling out health insurance forms

Health care: Help with many aspects of health care, including giving medications, caring for wounds, helping with medical equipment, and providing physical therapy

Transportation: Assistance getting around, such as rides to the doctor's office or grocery store
Safety: Home safety features and help in case of a fall or other emergency

Find detailed information about in-home support services, including suggestions for arranging them, information about costs, and additional resources.

Making your home safe and accessible

There are a variety of ways to make your surroundings safer and easier to manage so they meet your needs as you age. Go through your home room by room to identify potential problems and safety issues. First, correct any immediate dangers, such as loose stair railings and poor lighting, and then work on other ways to ensure you will be as safe as possible at home.

See the Worksheet: Home Safety Checklist below for suggestions to help you identify and remove hazards around the house. Keep in mind that it may not be necessary to make all of the suggested changes. It is important, however, to reevaluate home safety every so often as your needs change.

Are you worried that making changes might be expensive? You may be able to get help paying for repairs and safety updates to your home. Check with your state housing finance agency, social services department, community development groups, or the federal government for financial aid programs and discounts. You can also visit the Administration for Community Living (ACL) or call 202-401-4634 for more resources.

Resources for aging in place

If staying in your home is important to you, you may have concerns about getting around, being safe, and staying connected. Some of these activities become more challenging as you age. The resources below can help you find solutions.

Reach out to people you know. Family, friends, and neighbors are the biggest source of help for many older people. They may be able to drive you to doctor's appointments, help with errands and chores, or just keep you company.

Talk with those close to you about the best way to get what you need. If you are physically able, think about trading services with a friend or neighbor. For example, one could do the grocery shopping, and the other could cook dinner.

Learn about community resources. Your local Area Agency on Aging local and state offices on aging or social services, or your tribal organization may have lists of services. These organizations will be familiar with resources available in your community and may have tips for accessing them. Health care providers and social workers may also have suggestions. If you belong to a religious community, find out whether it offers services for older adults or ask for guidance from your pastor, rabbi, or other religious leader.

Get help during the day. Support is available if your regular caregiver isn't available during the day (for example, because they go to work). Some organizations have volunteers who regularly pay short visits to older adults. The volunteer can provide support, assistance, and companionship. Or you might consider an adult day care program, which can offer social activities, exercise, meals, and personal care during the day. Additionally, respite services provide short-term care for an older adult at home when a regular caregiver isn't available.

Be prepared for a medical emergency. If you have a serious allergy or medical need, talk with your doctor about whether you should get a medical alert ID bracelet or necklace. You might also consider an emergency medical alert system, which responds to medical and other emergencies via an electronic monitor that a person wears. The monitor alerts emergency personnel when a person becomes lost, falls, or needs urgent medical assistance.

Talk to a geriatric care manager. These specially trained professionals can help find resources to make your daily life easier. They will work with you to form a care plan and find services you need. Geriatric care managers can be especially helpful when family members live far apart. Your doctor or other health care provider may be able to recommend a geriatric care manager, or you can contact the Aging Life Care Association for a list of these professionals in your area.

Look into government resources. Federal, state, and local governments offer many resources for older adults and their families and caregivers.

How much will it cost to age in place?

An important part of planning is thinking about how you are going to pay for the help you need. Home-based services can be expensive, but they may cost less than moving into a residential facility, such as assisted living or a nursing home.

How people pay for care depends on their financial situation, their eligibility for assistance programs, and the kinds of services they use. People often rely on a variety of payment sources, including:

Personal funds, including savings, a pension or other retirement fund, income from investments, or proceeds from the sale of a home.

Federal and state government programs, such as Medicare, Medicaid, and the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA). Visit USA.gov for more information about government programs for health care and financial assistance.

Private financing, including long-term care insurance, reverse mortgages, certain life insurance policies, annuities, and trusts.

When it's time to leave home

Most people prefer to stay in their own home for as long as possible. But there may come a time when it's no longer safe or comfortable to live alone.

The decision about whether and when an older adult should move from their home is often difficult and emotional. Everyone will have their own reasons for wanting (or not wanting) to take such a step. One person may decide a move is right because they can't or don't want to manage the home any longer. For another person, the need for regular, hands-on care motivates a change.

Learn as much as you can about the housing options available as you grow older. Talk with your family about the pros and cons of each option before making a decision.

Worksheet: Home Safety Checklist

The following room-by-room checklist can alert you to potential hazards in an older person's home. Use it to identify any changes or repairs needed to help keep them safe. Keep in mind that it may not be necessary to make all of the suggested changes. It is important, however, to reevaluate home safety every so often as the person's behavior and needs change.

Throughout the home
☐	Are any repairs needed?
☐	Is the house well lit, inside and out, particularly at the top and bottom of stairs? Do any lightbulbs need to be replaced?
☐	Are emergency phone numbers (ambulance, Poison Control, doctors, hospital, etc.) and the person's home address near all telephones?
☐	Is there clutter, which can cause disorientation and confusion and increase the risk of falling?
☐	Is mail, recycling, or trash piling up? Do there need to be more trash and recycling containers around the house?
☐	Is each bottle of prescription medicine clearly labeled with the person's name, name of the drug, drug strength, dosage frequency, and expiration date?
☐	If there are guns in the home, are they locked up and unloaded, with ammunition stored separately?
Floors
☐	Are there any tripping hazards at exterior entrances or inside the house (throw rugs, for example)?
☐	Are there non-slip strips or mats on tile and wood floors or surfaces that may get wet? Are carpets fixed firmly to the floor?
☐	Are all walking areas free of furniture and extension and electrical cords?
☐	Have smoke and carbon monoxide alarms been installed near the kitchen and in all bedrooms? Have the batteries been checked recently?
Stairs
☐	Are the stairs manageable, or is a ramp or gate needed?
☐	Could handrails be installed on both sides of the staircase?

- [ ] Is there at least one stairway handrail that extends beyond the first and last steps on each flight of stairs?
- [ ] Are any outdoor steps sturdy and textured to prevent falls in wet or icy weather? Mark the edges of steps with bright or reflective tape.

Bathrooms

- [ ] Are there grab bars near toilets and in the tub or shower?
- [ ] Have nonskid adhesive strips, decals, or mats been placed in the tub and shower? If the bathroom is uncarpeted, consider placing these strips next to the tub, toilet, and sink as well.
- [ ] Have a plastic shower stool and a hand-held shower head been installed to make bathing easier?
- [ ] Is the water heater set at 120° F to avoid scalding tap water?
- [ ] Is there a night light to make overnight trips to the bathroom safer?

Kitchen

- [ ] Are there safety knobs and an automatic shut-off switch on the stove?
- [ ] Is there enough food in the fridge? Is any of it spoiled? Are there staple foods (such as cereal, sugar, canned soup) in the cabinets?
- [ ] Has a drain trap been installed in the kitchen sink to catch anything that may otherwise become lost or clog the plumbing?

Outdoors

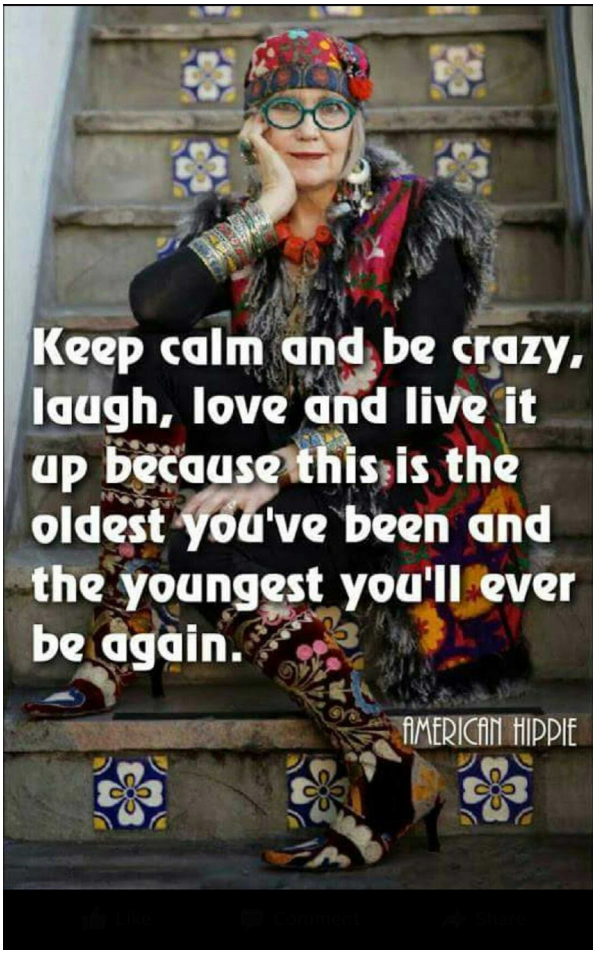

- [ ] Are there secure locks on all outside doors and windows?
- [ ] If a walker or wheelchair is needed, can the entrances to the house be modified — perhaps by putting in a ramp to the front door?
- [ ] Is there a small bench or table by the entry door to hold bags and packages while unlocking the door?
- [ ] Is outside lighting adequate? Light sensors that turn on lights automatically as you approach the house may be useful.
- [ ] Have bushes and foliage been pruned away from walkways and doorways?
- [ ] If there is a swimming pool, is it safe? Restrict access to a swimming pool by fencing it with a locked gate, covering it, and closely supervising it when in use.
- [ ] Have you addressed any uneven surfaces or walkways, hoses, and other objects that may cause a person to trip?
